

Holstein Cattle at Auction

34 head of cows, 11 heifers under one year old and one herd bull will be offered for sale at my farm, 1 1/2 miles north of car line on Twenty-seventh St.,

Lincoln, Neb., June 3, 1913

All the cows, with the exception of four head, are milking at this time, and these will drop calves by sale day. They are pure bred and high grades and are rich in DeKol and Mercedes blood. I selected these cows for use in my own herd, and they would not be for sale were it not for the fact that I am compelled to discontinue my dairy business on account of having more than I am able to look after.

They are a straight, clean lot of cattle and are guaranteed to be just as represented on sale day. The heifers are nicely marked and are good individuals. Will also sell my herd bull, General Craddock DeKol. He is three years old and is out of an eight hundred-pound dam, and his sire, Craddock DeKol, recently sold for $1,300. Here is an opportunity for some breeder.

I WILL FURNISH TUBERCULIN CERTIFICATE TO ANYONE DESIRING IT. CAN ALSO FURNISH MILK RECORD OF EVERY COW SOLD. SALE UNDER COVER, RAIN OR SHINE.

MANY ARTICLES CHEAPER

Joseph Hayden Says Effect of New Ruling is Far-Reaching.

PUBLIC MAY BE BENEFITED

Manufacturers May No Longer Name Price at Which Articles May Be Sold at Retail to the Consumers.

"The decision of the United States supreme court against patent monopoly will have the effect of throwing thousands of articles in the big stores upon the market somewhat cheaper than they have been sold hitherto," said Joseph Hayden on reading the decision of the supreme court in the nerve tonic case, in which the court held that manufacturers or patent holders could not control the retail price of their goods. A moment later he said that the decision was a long time in coming, and that it was a relief to him and to many other manufacturers who threatened to cut us off their list when we sold articles at less than the retail price set by the manufacturer. We were cut off on several occasions on certain lines of goods because we sold them a little cheaper, and in one notable instance it was through a slight error of a new clerk. In that instance we went ahead and got another line of goods that was just as good, in fact, a little better, and afterward the company came to us and begged us to take back their line. We refused.

"Some time ago we had some trouble with a hook-and-eye concern because we sold hook-and-eye at a little less than the price quoted by the manufacturer. They sent a man to see us. He tried to show us where it would be better for us as well as themselves for us to hold up the price. Their agent went away, however, saying the company did not care so much how much we cut the price as long as we did not advertise the goods at a cut price."

Hardship on Retailer.

"The old system has been working something of a hardship on the retailer, because he could not get rid of except by advertising it at a cut price. He has bought it and paid for it. In most cases the manufacturer made no provision for taking the stuff back if it were not sold, so that left the retailer up against it. And I never could see any reason why a man could not sell his own goods at whatever price he saw fit when once he has bought it and paid for it. Yes, the new decision will perhaps lower the price of a great many articles."

Charles Sherman of the Sherman-McConnell Drug store says the decision is not as much in the people's favor as it at first appears. The fact is that when cutting of prices was begun on a patent article in the drug line," said Mr. Sherman. "It often resulted in destructive competition between the various retailers until some of them, if not most of them, quit handling the goods simply because others had cut the price so low that there was no profit in it. That meant that a person who wanted that article found that half the time he could not find it in stock. It resulted in this 'something just as good' method of selling to customers. Anyway the decision will not affect the drug business to any great extent, because there are probably not over a half dozen articles in the stock that have been controlled that way."

NEW MEMBERS TAKEN INTO THE COMMERCIAL CLUB

The following new members have been admitted to the Commercial club on action of the executive committee: F. E. Wallace, R. M. Harris, W. E. Basinger, William F. Wappich, W. F. Curley, W. E. Shaffer, J. W. Lammiman, R. H. Oltman, Carl F. Benjamin, G. W. Condon, George Pray, Dr. F. J. Schieler, Edward Johnson.

Officer Fires on Fleeing Burglar

A series of coincidences early Tuesday morning may be the means of convicting one, or possibly three men, for attempted burglary at the Gaines & Helmhaugh pool hall at Eighteenth and Douglas streets.

Officer Ed Brinkman, making his rounds, was in the rear of the American Hippodrome theater, when he heard snuffing of feet in the cement area-way in the rear of the pool hall. He went to investigate, and as he reached the area-way, he saw a young man jump out of a window and run. The officer fired upon him four times and gave chase, but the youth had too much the start and quickly outdistanced him.

Captain Dempsey, returning from luncheon, was in the rear of Charley Meers at Fifteenth and Douglas streets, when he heard the shooting. A moment later he saw a young man in flight. Suspecting that the youth was wanted, he halted him and took him to headquarters, where later Brinkman positively identified him as the burglar. His coat was torn, evidently by one of the bullets from Brinkman's revolver. The prisoner said his name is Walter Peterson and claimed Indianapolis as his home.

HIGH SCHOOL LITERARY WILL CLASH WEDNESDAY

Two literary societies at the high school will clash for the championship of the school Wednesday in the school auditorium. The Demosthenian debating society, now holding the championship, will defend its title from the Athenian debating society. The Demosthenians will be represented by the three debaters who unanimously defeated Des Moines High school. The Athenians have a team composed of but one school debater, the other two being recruits. The stakes are very high since the Demosthenian debating society have nothing to gain with everything to lose, while the Athenian debating society have everything to win with nothing to lose.

The question to be debated is "Resolved, that all women should be given equal suffrage in the United States."

NEW FREIGHT AGENT OF MISSOURI PACIFIC COMES

Accompanied by J. F. Githens, freight traffic manager of the Missouri Pacific system, L. D. Knowles, the newly appointed assistant general freight agent, successor to C. E. Wagar, has arrived and was at once inducted into office. Mr. Knowles spent most of the day out among the business men of the city getting acquainted.

SHORT HOURS AT POST-OFFICE ON MEMORIAL DAY

All appointments of the postoffice will be closed after 12:30 a. m. on Memorial day, Friday, May 30. Two deliveries of mail will be made in the business section of the city and one in the residence districts.

New Hotel Would Be in Two-Mile Limit of Medical School

If the law requiring saloons to be at least two miles removed from any state institution means two miles air line the new Fontaine hotel to be erected at Eighteenth and Douglas streets will be in the dry belt, according to Watson Townsend, city engineer.

Townsend says the postoffice is exactly two miles from the site of the new state medical college. Forty-second and Harney streets. The two-mile limit was found on the map by Townsend, who says it will leave the new hotel three blocks within the dry belt. A few saloons now holding licenses would be in this forbidden district.

Reading his decision on the procedure followed by the city in the 4,000-foot paving limit the city engineer says the law would be interpreted as meaning an "air line."

COURT BAILIFF DEFENDS THE TOBACCO HABIT

John H. Hurlbert, bailiff in Judge Estelle's district court, who will celebrate his seventy-fourth birthday next Saturday, has arisen to the defense of tobacco. He says he has heard of so many elderly men who attribute their good health to abstinance from cigars and pipe smoking that he wants to make a protest.

Mr. Hurlbert declares he has used tobacco ever since he was 15 years old, but his friends assert that he looks nearer 80 than 74 years of age. He fought through the civil war, spent nineteen years as a railroad employe and has been court bailiff for thirteen years.

MISSING GIRL RETURNED HOME THE NEXT MORNING

Clara Hale, 3020 North Thirteenth street, who went fishing with her blind grandfather at the foot of Burdette street, Monday afternoon, then left in a row-boat with a young man while the grandparent was sleeping, returned home after an all-night search for her had been made by the police of this city and Council Bluffs. Upon arriving home the girl refused at first to give any information as to where she spent the night, but later told several conflicting tales. The most plausible of these is that she accompanied a boy to a dance hall on North Sixteenth street where the night was spent with a crowd of young people.

LIEUTENANT F. A. BUELL IN CHARGE OF STATION

Lieutenant F. A. Buell of the coast artillery at Newport, R. I., has arrived in Omaha and has taken charge of the army recruiting station in the army building. He succeeds Captain R. P. Rifenberk, who has completed two years at the head of the recruiting station here and has retired.

Captain and Mrs. Rifenberk, who have been living at 302 South Thirty-seventh street, expect to leave Sunday for British Columbia, where Captain Rifenberk will engage in business. He expects to spend the rest of his days in civil life.

HEAVY DAMAGE SUIT FILED AGAINST HARRY PULLMAN

Geraldine M. Schlupp has filed a damage suit in the district court against Harry Pullman for $4,024, alleging that he attacked her on July 3, 1912, inflicting bruises upon her neck that have since affected her hearing. Miss Schlupp is a graduate nurse.

GIRL WRONGFULLY ARRESTED MAY NOT SUE THE CITY

Report of the city legal department to the council is to the effect that Segrud Swanson, the girl arrested by Police Officer Caspar Staszak while he was in a state of alleged drunkenness, cannot recover damages from the city. She threatens to sue for $10,000. The girl may try to recover from the officer's bondsmen, Staszak's resignation was accepted by the council upon recommendation of Ryder. Shortly after the episode he tendered his resignation from the force, but it was held up. Ryder said an opinion from the legal department was secured, in which it was held that the officer's resignation will not affect the girl's suit for damages.

SMOKE COMMISSION Appointed; Law is to Be Enforced

Business men of the city are endeavoring to meet the requirements of the smoke ordinance. After June 1 enforcement of the law governing the nuisance has been promised by the smoke inspector, and it is largely as a result of this outlook of prosecution that many are doing all they can to reduce the possibility of their arrests and subsequent fines.

"An unusual and strenuous effort is being made to put chimneys in smokeless condition," said City Engineer Watson Townsend. "I have heard from many hotel proprietors, business men and manufacturers who are endeavoring to meet the requirements of this ordinance."

The city council approved the appointment of a smoke commission of five at the meeting. This commission will work with the city smoke inspector in an attempt to abate the smoke nuisance.

KIMBALL SAYS CLUB WILL PASS SEPTEMBER MORN

Thomas R. Kimball thinks the Commercial club hasn't enough money to buy "September Morn" and a reproduction, unless made by an expensive artist, would not be desirable for the club.

"Anyway," says he, "we are going to try to decorate the clubrooms either for the walls and I consider it a serious undertaking. We don't want to make it a sensational work or try to get the walls filled as soon as possible. We just want to wait and let those who care to submit their work or those who would like to lend pictures come in with them. No; there's nothing to the 'September Morn' thing."

Rainmakers Set Day for Fun and Frolic

Thursday, June 13, has been chosen as the day for rain by the Omaha Retail Grocers' association and the Omaha Retail Butchers' association. They will give a joint picnic at Krug park that day. All stores and shops will be closed, the only day of the year when the grocers and butchers get a whole day for a frolic.

Sea Captain Refused Enlistment in Navy

Hans Bjornson, an ex-sea captain, was refused enlistment in the United States navy at the Omaha recruiting station because he was not a naturalized citizen. Bjornson is only 22 years of age and is evidently well versed in nautical knowledge.

He brought with him licenses to show that he had sailed both as captain and first mate of Atlantic merchant steamers in his time. He said he had heard of the United States navy and was desirous of "doing a hitch" in its service. He had no naturalization papers and as he was born in Denmark he was not qualified to enlist.

Skinned from Head to Heel was Ben Pool, Threot, Ala., when dragged over a rough road; but Bucklen's Arnica Salve healed all his injuries. 50c. For sale by Beaton Drug Co.—Advertisement.

Just phone Douglas 963 and an auto will call for them, and if you want them returned, either in bags or boxes, he will bring them home all ready to put away—you need not touch them till fall—we guarantee they will open up satisfactorily.

LOCAL CLOTHIER TO SWING AXE

"Brooks," Lively Men's Outfitter, Inaugurates Period of Cut Prices.

Rainy Spring Makes Immediate Forced Clearance of Clothing Absolutely Necessary.

"Don't start to cutting clothing prices now, Brooks." "If you cut prices now we clothiers won't be able to get a regular profit again before fall."

"I would be ashamed to cut the life out of clothing prices before the Fourth of July, Brooks."

These and similar expressions were made in plenty by fellow clothiers about town, but George Brooks heeded not; George Brooks with his ultra smart clothing and furnishing goods establishment, corner 19th and Harney Sts., started to "swing the axe" on Saturday last and George is going to keep it up until his entire stock of spring and summer clothes has been sold down to a mere shell.

You see, Omaha clothing merchants have had an exceedingly disheartening spring season of it this year, and they all know it even if they don't admit it. Clothing has not moved at all. Many gigantic spring attire stocks have been scarce broken into at all; men simply wouldn't buy spring and summer clothing while grisly wintry winds and unending storms and showers were doing double duty.

So George Brooks started in to "swing the axe." Said Brooks: "If men won't buy spring clothing at a profit they will buy it at cost or less." So Brooks started into "axe" prices on Saturday last, much to the disgust of all the other clothing establishments in the city. In fact, half a dozen highly advertised clothing events would never have been announced at all if it were not for Brooks' determination to thin down his stock at any cost.

So please know that the original "Axe Wielder" this season, the knife of clothing prices and the "commander" of clothing cuts, was George Brooks, and George announces that the cutting is still in force, and that the cutting will be continued until stocks get so small that they won't worry him.

Without a single exception or reserve you may now pick out any Brooks suit that formerly sold at $50 and take it with you for $18.50, or, if you fancy some former $25 suit, take it with you for $16.50. George Brooks' next 100 suits are going at $19.50, and his very highest graded $35 and $40 suits are selling at $22.50.

The most energetic "knock" that can be printed will not change the situation—George Brooks is selling EVERY man's suit or top coat in the house at cost or less; this fact pierces brother clothiers' hearts like a dart, but the fact remains nevertheless.

Remember—George Brooks wields the axe—he was the first to wield it—he was the man who gave you 4th of July clothing prices in May.

George Brooks has that splendid men's outfitting establishment in the City National Bank Building, corner 19th and Harney streets.
